

BELVEN and FNC proudly announce their exclusive distribution partnership.

BELVEN (former Belgium Ventiel) was founded in 1974 for the production of high-tech industrial valves and focuses on active partnership with customers and suppliers to help realize the success of its partners by continuous dialogue and technical innovation. The BELVEN product portfolio consists of Ball Valves, Butterfly Valves, Gate Valves, Strainers and Check Valves for different types of industries. For each type BELVEN controls the full chain from design till finished and tested product.

FNC, established in 1927, is a leading and innovative international supplier of a wide range of venting and fire prevention fittings for low pressure storage tanks. Its products and services are based on a broad and deep knowledge of market developments as well as product properties, applications and processing. This enables the company to contribute positively to its customers' business operations. The range of Flame Arresters and Low Pressure Weight Loaded Relief Valves is completed by Blanketing Systems and Emergency Vents.

BELVEN and FNC have now combined their efforts in order to achieve substantial growth through geographical expansion and are proud to announce their exclusive distribution partnership for the BENELUX region as a first step towards a promising future. The companies joint technical expertise, market knowledge and experience will provide an even better service and support to their customer base. Over the years both companies have built a strong reference list in the Tank Storage world, where ADPO, RUBIS and VOPAK are just some of the leading players on the list.
